“Rewind” is a journey into the lives of teenagers and what they are up to on a daily basis in our society today. This journey proves to be a real eye opener for anyone over the age of twenty-one and under the age thirteen. We have heard others say, or maybe even thought ourselves, “if I could only do it over again – knowing what I know now.” But to hear a fourteen year old utter those words is completely devastating. Many parents have heard this from their youth and it is usually connected to some form of substance abuse.

Help us help you make sure this does not continue!
